SUMNER'S DIVORCE.

I so amounced that the Hon. Charles same has obtained a divorce from he wise on account of five years willful absent from bed and board, which is a beens from bed and board, which is a ground for a divorce under the laws of hassachusetts. We have a suspicion, boarded upon the gossip of Mrs. Grundy, alo, in this instance, we are quite sure, has not made a mistake, that Mrs. Charles Sumuer has really secured the sandering of the martial tie, rather than ar distinguished husband, although it appears in his name. Mrs. Charles sanner was, at the time of her marriage, adow young and blooming, still in samer was, at the time of her marriage, andow, young and blooming, still in lar twenties, and, we believe, without may children. Her first husband was the silest son of Mr. Hooper, a millionate Congressman from Massachusetts. It is believed in Washington that Mrs. Sumer had a good legal ground for a fewere against her husband, recognized at such under the laws of all countries and States, but that she was unwilling the total transfer metrics of delicates. nd States, but that she was unwilling plend it both from motives of delicacy her and to himself, and that, thereer, it was mutally arranged that she hould absent herself for a period that sould give the Senator a legal right to of the matrimonial contract.

We know not how it may be, but it has been said that a jealousy on the part of the honorable Senator had considerado with this unfortunate proceed-When the parties were married, we presume, was in the neighborcone, we presume, was in the neighborhood of three score and the other a core and a quarter. There was, therefore, naturally a dispority of years and habits. This almost universally produces an unhappy marriage. But in this instance it was aggravated. Mr. Samher was not only a bachelor of long natured habits, but he had formed other connections and associations peculiar to himself even aside from that fact. For instance, it was said that he formed the connections and associations peculiar to himself even aside from that fact. For instance, it was said that he formed the formed the connections and associations peculiar to himself even aside from that fact. For instance, it was said that he formed the formed matured habits, but he had formed other connections and associations peculiar to himself even aside from that fact. For instance, it was said that he always had his carriage at the door at say ball or party they mutually attended, at which he would say, "Madam, it is now ten o clock; it is time to go home, and our conveyance is below." She would reply, "I am happy to hear it. You are sleepy and tired. Go home and go to bed, but I am not yet ready. I will follow you by and by. So good night, my dear." Then, as we have said, the Senator was said to be morbidly jeolous of a certain gentleman connected with the Prussian Embassy, whom he had himself introduced to his wife, and extolled in the highest terms, and which gentleman afterwards escorted her to many evening amusements which her husband's habits forbade him to attend. One day this young attache and which gentleman afterwards escorted her to many evening amusements which her husband's habits forbade him to attend. One day this young attache received a very peremptory letter from Berlin ordering him to return home immediately, and recalling him from the Prussian Legation. He was thunderstruck by the intelligence; not conscious of any offense against his government, he could not conceive what it meant.
He, therefore, wrote to an infinential He, therefore, wrote to an influential friend at home to make inquiries of Count Bismark as to what was the real reason of this very extraordinary proceeding. In reply he was informed that the tetairman of the Senate Committee or Foreign Relations, who was then Senator Charles Sumner, had written a letter requesting his recall, and that the Count did not consider that he was authorized to refuse a request coming from such an influential source in the govern-ment to which he was accredited. Of coarse the young Prussian gentlemen duly informed Mrs. Summer of all this, and rumor hath it that that lady was not at all pleased with the conduct of her makend in the conduct of her isband in the matter. The German scretary returned home, and for a time at cloud upon the martial relations of breathe for a time the air of Europe. This was accordingly done, and the atmosphere has been so bracing and the scenery so pleasant—to say nothing of her companionship—that she has lingered there so long as to enable Mr. Sum-ner to obtain the divorce for willful bsence, required by the statue. Sumner will resume his 'old bachelor relations, and his late wife—a young, handsome and wealthy wildow—will be a prize to be contended for by gentlemen of position who are in the matrimonial market.

A Senarr-Guiden Devotee.—A man calling himself C. N. Hudson, thirty-six years of age, a nativd of Vermont, a carpenter by trade, was locked up in the county jail at White Plains, yesterday, under the following singular circumstances: On Wednesday or Thursday last he called at the Greeley homestead at Chappaqua, and, obtaining an interview with Miss Ida Greeley, told her that a vision had appeared to him, and informed him that he must marry a youdg lady now attired in mourning. informed him that he must marry a young lady now attired in mourning. On further inquiry of the spirit who the lady was and where he would find her, he was informed that the lady referred to was Miss Greeley. Whereupon he at once set out upon his mission to find that lady, and had walked more than 1,000 miles in pursuit of his object. Miss Greeley was naturally much Miss Greeley was naturally much amused and astonished at receiving such a visit, but gave her visitor to understand that he had come on a foolish extended that he had come on stand that he had come on a foolish cr-rand. Mr. Hudson became more demon-strative in pleading his cause than was agreeable, and she soon found herself under the necessity of sending for Jus-tice Hyatt, of New Castle, who took her complaint and held the Vermonter to bail in the sum of $500 to keep the peace, which not being forthcoming, he was sent to jail.—[N.
